Mystery of The Third Planet

The Second Story When Alice Travel to The Year 2027 when The Aliens Contact to Humans and Development of Civilization of The Alien Races

The Beginning of Professors Story

Captain Nikolai Zelyony, Professor Yuri Seleznyov and his daughter Alice Seleznyov set out from Earth aboard the Pegasus Spaceship, seeking out new animal species for the Moscow Zoo. Visiting the Moon and As Well as Other Planet in Solar System are Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune and Pluto as a resting point, Seleznyov meets his friend, Gromozeka the alien archaeologist, who advises him to turn to the Planet of Two Captains, a huge museum dedicated to Captains Kim and William who went around the whole universe on their ship, the Blue Seagull-like Avian Aliens, for useful information on where the rare animals live. Doctor Verkhovtsev, the director of the museum, is seen visiting the moon as well; however, he avoids Gromozeka.

The Galactic Journey Of Planetary System

On the Planet of two Captains, the heroes meet Verkhovtsev and ask him to show them the Captain's diaries for directions to find rare animals. But the doctor behaves suspiciously: he refuses to show them the diaries and starts spying on the expedition. Visiting the planet Bluk, the heroes make some valuable purchases, and found out about Chatterbirds — a special kind of birds who could imitate human speech and fly in open space. The heroes found out that they went extinct, and the one responsible for their extinction was none other than Doctor Verkhovtsev. Later, Alice and Seleznyov spot the Doctor himself on the planet, but an unknown fat alien encounters them and dismisses their claims. A secretive local person, having heard about the heroes' intentions to find a Chatterbird, tells them that he once saved an injured Chatterbird and refused to give it away to the man suspiciously similar to the Doctor. Since he's too afraid to keep the Chatterbird for now, he gives it to the heroes for free. On the way back to the ship, the heroes are ambushed, but manage to defeat their opponents. The fat alien, named Jolly Man Gourdy, appears as well; he gifts a diamond-shelled tortoise to the heroes and attempts to get the Chatterbird, but to no avail.

Soon the bird in question starts talking, and it is found out that it belongs to the captain Kim, who apparently went missing. Having listened to the speech of the Chatterbird, the Pegasus crew heads for the Medusa system. On the road, the heroes get a SOS signal from the planet Shelezyaka, a planet that is populated only by robots Known as Ironite, who recently started malfunctioning yet Not Yet Fixed By Aliens and Later Aliens Will Fixing The Robot Ironite. It is then revealed that the robots once helped the Chatterbird as well, and also that the Doctor visited the planet as well and found out about this. All the malfunctioning happened shortly after the Doctor left off: as a revenge, he put diamond dust into the grease that the robots used.

The Medusa Star System Wildlife

Exploring the three-planet Medusa system, the heroes pass the inhospitable first planet and find mirage-projecting stones at the second planet, who depict the Blue Seagull-like Avian Alien Known as Medusa Birds — a spaceship of Captains Kim and William. On the third planet, however, the heroes experience some adventures with the local Alien flora and fauna, and get some clues that the Medusa Birds can be somewhere there. Later, Alice finds Unique mirror-like flowers was Designed to be a Mirror for Home. After the heroes transport them to the Pegasus, they found out that the flowers had been recording everything that was happening in front of them, and upon being picked up, they started deteriorating and depicting what they recorded in reverse. Watching the flowers, the heroes find out that both Verkhovtsev and Jolly Man Gourdy were on the planet, and they were cooperating as space pirates. Pretty soon, the tortoise destroys the flowers, and Zelyony finds out that the tortoise actually was a spying device that helped the pirates to track down the heroes. In attempt to fly in a safe place, Pegasus falls in a trap. Seleznyov and Zelyony are captured by Verkhovtsev and Jolly Man Gourdy, while Alice manages to escape. She then finds out that Captain William also landed on the planet — together with Doctor Verkhovtsev, but, apparently, not the same one who trapped her comrades. Medusa Birds appears to have been caught in the same trap that Pegasus landed in. It is then revealed that Captain Kim was trapped in his spaceship by Alien pirates, who wanted to get his formula of absolute fuel. However, after the pirates took heroes as hostages and threaten to murder them, Kim, not having the strength to hold in anymore, exits the ship, encounters and disarms the pirates on his own. Pretty soon, William and the other Doctor Verkhovtsev arrive and help him, and the pirates get clearly outmatched. With two Verkhovtsevs being at the same place now, one of them exposes the other one as Glotterus the space pirate (who immediately attempts suicide, but is exposed by Jolly Man Gourdy just to be feigning death and He Depicted as Humanoid Reptilian Alien Who Can Shapeshifting to Similar of A Human), reveals that Glotterus posing as him was the one responsible for all the crimes, and confesses that Glotterus and Jolly Man Gourdy's previous interest in the Captains' diaries made him suspect the heroes back at the museum. William also points out that the Chatterbird's previous owner, knowing the bird's lines about the Medusa system, was the one who directed him and the real Verkhovtsev there.

The Return to Earth

After everything is settled down, the heroes make Jolly Man Gourdy open the trap and capture him and Glotterus. With the commotion around Gromozeka suddenly appearing late to the call to save the day, Jolly Man escapes, but is captured by a local bird of prey and carried away to the nest. In the end, the captains and the Doctor take away from the planet, and the main protagonists are returning to Earth with captured Glotterus and with the animals they collected and Yet Return to Planet Earth When Scientist Found Aliens Are Founded.

Prisoners of Yamagiri-Maru

The Story Begins of The end of the 21st century and Entering to 22nd Century. Alice Seleznyov and Pasha Geraskin undergo Worker Building practice under the leadership of Zorill Manerus, the director of the ocean farm on the island of Yamarus where mysterious events have recently begun to occur: species of marine creatures unknown to science suddenly appear while dolphin-like and whale-like Alien Creatures belonging to the farm are vanishing. Pasha learns that the Japanese transport “Yamagiri-Maru” sunk near the island during World War II, carrying jewels from Burma, captured by the Japanese. He is going to stealthily take a submersible apparatus — a “bathyscaphe”, to go down inside the ship and find treasures there, but Alice persuades him to swim with her. In the sunken cruiser, Alice and Pasha find mutants (similar to ordinary octopuses) that went extinct during the last hundred years under because of oil spillage during the crash. The bathyscaphe brings down the tank that was in the transport, which crushes the manipulator, and thus Alisa and Pasha are captured. Mutant Octopus have signs of intellect and counteract their attempts to cut off the manipulator and free themselves. Zor-ill Singh announces a rescue operation and flies to the scene where he kills the “king” of mutants and rescues Alice and Pasha.

The Journey Beginnings of Alice and Other Adventures

The Magical Lilac Ball

Alice Seleznyov, her father professor Seleznyov, and the ship's captain Zeleniy are traveling in space on the Pegasus. Zeleniy is unhappy that Alisa has brought a frog on board as he insists on keeping the ship clean, however Alisa insists that the frog is in fact a princess under a curse. They meet their old friend alien archaeologist Gromozeka, who's just discovered an empty space ship called Black Wanderer all inhabitants of which died but Later Now Inhabitant by Alien Crews. Upon investigation of the Black Wanderer they find video evidence that the Black Wanderer was inhabited by Space Pirates, who attacked entire planets at a time to loot their resources. Since they lacked the manpower to physically take over an entire planet they would instead send ahead a scouting ship which would plant a lilac ball on the planet Zuron. Lilac balls were storage units for the virus of hate and Unlucky, which would cause all who were infected to attack each other. When the Black Wanderer would get near the planet, the lilac ball would disperse the virus, causing the inhabitants of the planet to wipe themselves out, allowing the space pirates to loot the planet unopposed. At some point, a slave that labored in the Black Wanderer sacrificed himself and broke a lilac ball, which caused the space pirates to wipe themselves out. The deserted ship was left floating on autopilot towards the pirates' next target: Earth. Gromozeka discovers that they had left a lilac ball on Earth 291200 years ago, and that the Black Wanderer will be close enough to Earth to make the lilac ball start dispersing within 10 days. The crew races back towards Earth on the Pegasus at hyperspeed. They enter Earth's orbit and attempt to notify flight control that they've discovered an alien virus known as Dodgeball Virus, but due to a misunderstanding flight control sends a quarantine ship after them which traps them, leaving them helpless. The only chance to save the Earth is to travel 26000 years back in time - to the epoch when witches, dragons and magicians lived along with usual people. Alisa volunteers to go back as she is familiar with some of the inhabitants of that era, and Gromozeka volunteers to go with her to protect her. They escape the quarantine and use a time machine to travel to the day the lilac ball was planted. Once in the past, Alisa and Gromozeka encounter several magical creatures. Alisa asks a dragon she knows to notify her friend, the magician Named Marlin Seismozero They encounter Hades, Hydra, Cyclops, and Witch Agatha who are the monsters of the epoch of legends. They stop them from feasting on a human child named Tommy who has seen the Black Wanderer's landing craft (which looks like a giant Purple Colored egg who has Inhabitant By Ancient Aliens). Gromozeka stays to hold back the monsters from pursuing Alice and Tommy. Tommy leads Alice to the approximate location where he saw the craft, but it turns out to be an actual giant egg of a giant bird-like Creature Known as Weasel Egrets, which hatches in front of them. Barely escaping the bird they stumble upon the actual landing craft.

The giant bird Monster but was Actually skittish to Humans and Other Creatures mistakes it for a giant egg and gets too close, where a Alien pirate executes it. Marlin Seismozero flies by on a magic carpet looking for Alice, but is attacked by the Alien pirates and escapes using his invisibility cap.

Spooked off, the pirates prepare to move to a different location to plant the lilac ball. Alisa explains the situation to Marlin Seismozero, and borrows his invisibility cap. She stows away on the landing craft of the pirates so that she can see where they plant the lilac ball. The pirates fly a short distance away where they plant the lilac ball under a boulder and leave. Marlin Seismozero flies over and uses telekinesis and Magic to lift the boulder while Tommy retrieves the lilac ball. With their mission a success, Alice goes to find Gromozeka reeducating the monsters to become vegetarians. They travel back to the future with the lilac ball to dispose of it properly. While discussing on how to dispose it, Marlin Seismozero also travels to the future using magic and throws the lilac ball into the sun, disintegrating the virus. He also tells Alice that the only thing that can lift the curse on the frog is true love, at which point the princess walks out, being set free from the curse by Zeleniy's pure heart
